About this guide

Snacks listed in this guide have been selected because:

- They do not contain peanuts and tree nuts - and unless explicitly marked otherwise - eggs as ingredients;
- Their packaging list no warnings that these allergens may have been introduced during manufacturing;
- For many, we have verified the manufacturing and labeling practices via participation in the SnackSafely.com Manufacturer Partnership Initiative, for others, with their respective manufacturer's consumer services by phone or e-mail;
- They are readily available at your local supermarket, health food store or internet shop.

Items preceded by the following symbols are marketed by their respective manufacturer to be free of specific allergens whether on their packaging, in promotional literature, on their website, or in writing to us:

- ✓ - a green check mark indicates the item is marketed as free of peanuts, tree nuts, and eggs;
- ▲ - a green triangle indicates the item is marketed as free of peanuts and tree nuts only - not eggs;

Items listed in boldface are from manufacturers that participate in our Partnership Initiative and disclose their manufacturing processes regarding 11 allergens directly to SnackSafely.com via our Manufacturers' Product Portal.

SunButter® Sweet & Salty Truffles

recipe by Carol Kicinski

Ingredients:

- ¾ cup gluten-free pretzels, use divided
- 1 cup Creamy or Crunchy SunButter®
- ½ cup mini marshmallows
- 1½ cups chocolate chips (semisweet, bittersweet, or dairy-free)

Directions:

- Line a baking sheet with parchment or waxed paper.
- Chop ½ cup pretzels finely. Chop the remaining pretzels very finely. Set both aside.
- Put the SunButter® in a mixing bowl and stir until creamy.
- Put the marshmallows in a microwave-safe bowl and microwave for 1 minute at high power. The marshmallows should be puffed up and very soft, not melted. Add the marshmallows to the SunButter® along with the ½ cup chopped pretzels. Stir until well combined.
- Roll heaping teaspoons of truffle mixture into balls and place on the prepared baking sheet. Freeze for 1 hour.
- Place the chocolate chips in a microwave safe bowl and microwave until most of the chocolate chips are melted, about 1 minute. Stir until smooth and glossy.
- Using a spoon, dip the balls into the melted chocolate and coat. Place back on the baking sheet and sprinkle with a little of the very finely chopped pretzels. Refrigerate until the chocolate is set – about half an hour.

The Only Service That Shows You the Potential for Cross-Contamination with 11 Allergens for Each Product

Fact: FDA regulations do not require food manufacturers to disclose the possibility of contamination with common allergens. Warnings like “may contain traces of peanuts” and “manufactured on equipment that also processes milk” are entirely voluntary and there are no guidelines for when they should be used, how they should be worded, or where they should be displayed. Their absence does not mean the product is safe, even for well-known brands by major manufacturers.

We understand how frustrating the search for products can be when caring for people with food allergies. That’s why we created Allergence™, a free service by SnackSafely.com™ that picks up where the label leaves off.

By leveraging our proprietary platform and the relationships we developed with over 40 responsible manufacturers, Allergence provides you with detailed, easy to understand information regarding how 11 of the most common allergens are processed during the manufacture of each product.

The service provides coverage of the FDA’s “Top 8” allergens – peanuts, tree nuts, eggs, milk, wheat, soy, fish and shellfish – as well as gluten, sesame and mustard. Allergence will show you when each allergen is used as an ingredient, how it’s processed, and whether the manufacturer explicitly markets the product as “Free-From” that allergen.

Allergence will also inform you whether the product bears kosher, organic, gluten free and non-GMO certifications from industry recognized authorities.

You can even set up profiles for each allergic individual you care for and Allergence will advise you when a particular product meets (or doesn’t meet) your requirements.
